If one thing holds true, it is that people always seem to desire change in their lives. Whether we want to reduce stress, increase physical activity, or shift our careers, our tendency is to want to move forward and bring improvement. However, inertia, a lack of focus, or other factors can get in the way. The solution is to create a specific personal life plan. A personal life plan is easy to follow, helps alleviate stress, and greatly improves the chance of success. In this webinar Louise will demonstrate the simple and effective steps you can use to take stock of your life and embark on a new, intentional life plan. Take the first step and register today!
